MULTICHANNEL

FRIDAY 20 JUNE - SUNDAY 6 JULY 2008

Multichannel is a screening programme of artists' film and video, organised and curated by ArtSway and SCAN. This year's programme features works by 42 (with many working in collaboration) artists and looks to develop the highly successful 2007 Multichannel screening programme. The continuing intention of the curators is to present single screen video works by artists and practitioners who reflect current trends in contemporary lens-based work, as well as screening films by cutting edge practitioners from the previous two decades.

Multichannel has been expanded from the 3 days of screenings in 2007, to almost 3 weeks for this year's programme. In addition, there was an open call for artists to submit work for selection – resulting in 150 high-calibre lens-based artists sending works from across the UK, Europe and as far afield as the United States. Alongside the open call a number of exceptional artists have been invited by the curators to exhibit their work.

The single channel works selected for Multichannel are curated into a screening programme that will cover the following areas: Film/Video and Music; Narrative and Journey; Film/Video as Material; Psychological Narrative. The 42 artists included in the programme have been grouped into an area that the curators feel best reflects themes inherent in their work, and are as follows:
